

WINNING APPEAL.

Monday.....July 25 1886

A WINNING NAME.

If there is one man beyond all others named gubernatorially who ought to be nominated by the Republican Convention it is ex-Governor Kinkaid. There are many other men named who would doubtless prove capable men, but they have never been put to the test and their capacity for the office would be a problem until after election.

James Kinkaid received the nomination for Governor eight years ago, won his flight in a quiet dignified campaign which brought the best element of the community to the support of the Republican ticket. During the four years of his administration the State prospered and the affairs of his office were handled in such a way that no stain was ever cast upon the dignity or self respect which the people looked for in that department of State affairs. It cannot be truthfully said that any resident of this State points with pride to the four years which succeeded Kinkaid's retirement.

It is not necessary to dwell upon what the people know and the reader will pardon this incidental mention of it at this time.

Mr. Kinkaid's friends have again urged him to accept the nomination and place himself in the fight. Whether or not he has reached a final decision in the matter the APPEAL has no personal knowledge but it would be a pleasure to this journal to be able to announce that ex-Governor Kinkaid was a candidate, and still further to publish the fact that he was nominated.

A candidate with so unimpeachable a record, and who has shown himself so staunch a friend of the people's interests, needs no better endorsement from us.

In this campaign the necessity of having a leader of acknowledged strength at the head of the State ticket is apparent to every observer of the situation.

His nomination would unite all conflicting interests and give the Republican party a standard bearer worthy of the party and its past honorable record.

Mr. Kinkaid has been identified with the growth and progress of Nevada; a man ever alive to the interests of the State, and his nomination would give good ballast to the ticket.

The only objection yet made against him is the fact that he is not the possessor of wealth. No stronger point could possibly be made in his favor. It has been shown that he has never prostituted his office for gain, and if there is any higher eulogium to be made we would like to know it.

The APPEAL believes in electing a man to this office for his individual worth, and the man who urges Kinkaid's moderate circumstances against him is not a true Republican.

—Miss Cleveland takes advantage of Sunset Cox's absence in Turkey to hit the public a good, hard lick with the following from her last book:

"The Western horizon gapes with crimson wounds that drop their heavy ichor on city spires and domes, and redden city windows where the golden sun beats through wounds that are not staunch till Venus, throbbing great and tender, rises to bind them up with love."

The remark made by the last survivor of the Old Guard at Waterloo seems to be about the only expression that fits the case.

—The Bar Association is quite right to stand in with the Supreme Court. Speak of a man as you find him. The Supreme Court never did the Bar Association any harm; in fact its delays and blunderings have been money in the Bar Association's pocket all the time. But it does not follow that because the Bar Association is satisfied with the Supreme Court that the public should be. Quite the reverse.—Report.

—Plagiarism seems to be epidemic in high places. Two of the Prince of Wales' sons are discovered to have used a passage from one of Charles Kingsley's works without the formality of quotation marks, and Mrs. Cleveland, as Miss Frankie Folson, passed off as her own a story taken from an old magazine.
